IN THE SPECIFICATION:

Please replace the paragraph on page 2, lines 4-13, with the following rewritten paragraph:

Still further, to have a portable copy of needed files, the user must physically carry the removable storage device or mobile device. When the user then wishes to ~~accesses~~ access those files at another client device, the client device must be able to read the removable storage device or must be configured with an interface for the mobile device. The user also risks losing the removable storage device or mobile device. For these reasons, creating a portable copy [[if]] of needed files is inconvenient and unreliable.